

BELONGING, BALANCING, BEING: WOMEN OF COLOR IN THE ACADEMY

Join us for an afternoon with Dr. Michelle Téllez.

For 20 years, Dr. Téllez has been committed to exploring shared human experiences and advancing social justice. An interdisciplinary scholar trained in sociology, Chicana/o studies, community studies and education, her work seeks to uncover stories of identity, transnational community formation, gendered migration, resistance, and Chicana mothering. Dr. Téllez has published in several book anthologies, and in journals such as Gender & Society, Feminist Formations, Aztlán, and Chicana/Latina Studies; and in online outlets such as The Feminist Wire. A former board member of the Phoenix based Arizona Workers Rights Center and the National Association of Chicana/o Studies, currently Dr. Téllez is a founding member of the Arizona Ethnic Studies Network, the Entre Nosotr@s collective, and is on the editorial review board for Chicana/Latina Studies: The Journal of Mujeres Activas en Letras y Cambio Social. She taught at Arizona State University for nine years and is currently a faculty member in Sociology and Ethnic Studies at Northern Arizona University.

Date: Thursday, March 24, 2016

Time/Place: 12 noon - 2p.m., Glasscock 311

Organized by the Latina/o Studies Working Group and the Melbern G. Glasscock Center for Humanities Research